(Discuss importance in terms of historical or architectural context as defined by theme, period, and geographic scope. Also address integrity.)

These magazines were used to store the weapons inventory, such as Mark 46 torpedoes, cluster bombs, and Bullpup or Harpoon missiles, for the P-3 mission. They are directly associated with the Cold War P-3 Orion anti-submarine warfare patrol mission at Moffett Field. Although this mission is considered of exceptional significance within the Cold War context, this magazine complex is of standard Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks secure munitions design and does not exhibit unique architectural or engineering features special to the P-3 mission. It is therefore not considered of exceptional significance under criterion G.
